

LASPN Summit 2025

Transforming Pain into Purpose: Building Communities of Hope Call for Presentations

We invite researchers, practitioners, advocates, and those with lived experience to submit proposals for presentations, workshops, and panels for our upcoming 15th Annual Los Angeles Suicide Prevention Network Summit. LASPN25 will be held during Suicide Prevention Week. More details coming soon.

This year's theme focuses on innovative strategies, lived experience insights, and community-driven approaches that foster strength and healing during challenging times.

We seek submissions that explore:

- Culturally responsive approaches to suicide prevention
- Evidence-based, and community-led suicide prevention initiatives
- The role of lived experience in shaping support systems
- Intersectionality and suicide prevention in marginalized communities
- Promising practices that address mental health in the current social climate

Submit a proposal by April 13:
